New Utilities Head's Salary Set at $7,500

Although the city's new utilities superintendent, William J. Thompson, began his duties Monday, City Council last night officially hired the Toronto, O., man at a beginning salary of $7,500 a year.

Thompson, who comes to Salem from Toronto, where he was superintendent of water and sewerage, was officially hired as of Dec. 1. According to unanimous vote of Council, Thompson's salary will increase to $8,300 annually on Dec. 1, 1963, if, in the discretion of the Utilities Commission, Thompson provides satisfactory services.

Thompson fills the post vacated by Aubrey Hayes who had resigned, effective Dec. 1. Hayes was hired in January, 1953, at $450 a month. His salary increased a number of times, finally becoming $800 a month in January, 1960. Hayes is moving to Florida.

The hiring of the new utilities superintendent was the subject of one of eight ordinances introduced, given three readings, and passed unanimously as emergency measures by council Tuesday night.

While Thompson's hiring was receiving Council's consideration, Councilman James Aldom took the floor and spoke urgently of the need for the utilities superintendent to give "decent service to the people of Salem."

Aldom charged that in the past there has been "complete disregard for justifiable complaints of customers, voters and taxpayers" in the utilities department.

Declaring he had read and heard favorable accounts of Thompson's background of experience, Councilman Aldom said he did not mean his remarks to be considered as personally disparaging. Rather, according to Aldom, his remarks were meant "to remind you that you are a servant of the people."

5 Fund Transfers OK'd

Of the seven other ordinances passed as emergency measures Tuesday night, five call for the transfer of funds.

Another ordinance authorizes the superintendent of utilities to enter into an agreement with the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. to relocate and reconstruct city water lines crossing the Pennsylvania Railroad at its intersection with U.S. Route 62.

One ordinance introduced and passed Tuesday night amends a previous ordinance which called for the expenditure of $2,110 for a current regulator for the street lighting system. The new ordinance raises the amount to be spent for the regulator from $2,110 to $2,650.30.

Ordinances introduced and passed Tuesday night call for the transfer of:

$2,500 from the general fund to the park and recreation fund for maintenance; $133 from pumping maintenance fund to $1,500 from distribution maintenance payroll funds, with $133 going into electrician and assistant labor fund and $1,500 into distribution maintenance supplies fund; $300 from sewage revenue incidentals funds into power and heat fund; $131.97 to maintenance and supplies from Public Employees Retirement System and $500 from payroll in the park department to maintenance and supplies; $100 to maintenance and supplies from furniture and fixtures in the fire department.

In addition to the eight emergency ordinances, a resolution requesting review and approval of planning documents for the W. State St. railroad overpass was unanimously passed, and four other ordinances were introduced and each given one reading.

The resolution approved the planning documents submitted by the Columbus engineering firm of Rackoff Associates as the basis for construction of the overpass, with advance financing from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Ordinances Introduced

Four ordinances which were introduced and given first readings call for:

Authorizing and directing the board of park commissioners to enter into a contract for the lease of park concessions beginning next spring;

Authorizing and directing the service director to advertise for bids and enter into contract for repairs to the City Hall, based on plans and specifications submitted by Wilbur Watson & Associates;

Vacating a portion of North St. and two alleys running north from Middle Alley to North St.

Retaining Attorney John E. Bauknecht of East Palestine as special counsel to represent City Auditor Helen Coyne in the mandamus action to be brought against her because of her refusal to pay for city parking meters.

Regarding the ordinance to retain Attorney Bauknecht as counsel for the city auditor, Councilman Charles Gibbs made a motion to suspend rules that call for an ordinance to be given three readings on three separate days, in order that this ordinance could be given all required readings and passed Tuesday night. Councilman Aldom, Harold J. Asty and Albert Lesch voted "no" on the Gibbs motion. Thus, only one reading was given.

Repairs Needed To City Hall

Masonry Work Gets Nod From Council

Salem's 11-year-old City Hall is in need of repairs in the masonry of all four corners of the building. Also, the automatic heating system needs attention.

After cracks in the corner masonry were first observed months ago, councilmen consulted construction experts and were informed that the cracks were caused because expander joints had not been put into the masonry.

At last night's City Council session, Councilman John E. Rance introduced an ordinance authorizing and directing the service director to advertise for bids and enter into contract for repairs to the municipal building, based on plans and specifications submitted by Wilbur Watson & Associates. The ordinance was given its first reading.

The repairing of the masonry, not likely to get underway until after winter weather, will call for rebuilding several feet of each of the building corners.

Mayor Dean B. Cranmer reported to Council last night that thermostats in the City Hall are not controlling the furnace properly. The mayor and Councilman Rance, chairman of a special public building committee, said that steps will be taken to improve the heat control situation in City Hall in order to cut down on fuel consumption.

Post Office Job Begun At Damascus

DAMASCUS — Work on the new postoffice here has begun, according to Paul Bayless, who was awarded the contract to build the concrete block structure.

The site was staked out Tuesday in preparation for excavation which was to begin today by the Daley Excavating Co. of Salem. The building, to be located on the southwest corner of Bayless' Mobile Homes, is expected to be completed by April 1.

The building will be rented to the post office department for five years, with renewal options running for two years.

The postoffice is now located in Steer's Grocery, a block away.

Stevenson's Future In U.N. Under Cloud

Kennedy Expected To Speak Out In Support of Adlai

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The future of Adlai E. Stevenson as President Kennedy's ambassador to the United Nations rests under a cloud of uncertainty today—a cloud which only Kennedy himself can dispel.

Unless the uncertainty is cleared up soon Stevenson's effectiveness in dealing with other diplomats in New York may be impaired.

His prestige and persuasiveness depend upon the faith foreign envoys place in the President's confidence in Stevenson. That seems, for the moment, to be the central issue the President must deal with.

Some well-placed officials expect that Kennedy will speak out publicly in support of Stevenson. Associates of the ambassador say privately that the President already has assured him of his full support and that Stevenson is planning to carry on as usual.

Unless Stevenson was convinced of Kennedy's complete backing, one informant said, "he would have resigned already."

Two Questions Posed

In official quarters two other questions are coming into focus:

How much tolerance is there at the White House for disagreement in policy making?

Should anonymous but apparently authoritative criticism of a high official be interpreted as evidence that his resignation would be welcomed by the President?

Stevenson's troubles began Sunday with the disclosure in New

Grass Is Seeded At Memorial Park

The unseasonably mild weather Salem has been having recently is permitting park workers to sow grass seed in the recently-acquired Waterworth area of Memorial Park.

Charles F. Tomlinson, superintendent of city parks and recreation, reported to City Council Tuesday night that if the mild weather continues, park workers hope to complete the seeding of six acres within the next few days. Tomlinson commented that if a good stand of grass is obtained at the new park area by next summer, playground equipment will be erected.

Chain link fence has been placed around three new tennis courts at Centennial Park, Tomlinson said.

Dr. George F. Jones will be attending the Post Graduate Courses of the American Academy of Optometry in Miami, Fla., Dec. 5th to Dec. 12. Office open for appointments-ad

BOMBERS OUTWARD BOUND FROM CUBA—The fuselages of three Soviet IL28 bombers are on the deck of the Russian ship Okhotsk in this photograph released in Washington by the Department of Defense. It was made from a U.S. Navy patrol plane which spotted the ship Dec. 1 off the northern coast of Cuba. These were the first of a reported 30 or more of the twin-jet bombers to be removed from Cuba bases.

Proposed Tax Cuts Blasted

Businessman Hits Expense Deductions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Should Mrs. John F. Kennedy pay for her own meal at White House dinners honoring foreign dignitaries or is this a legitimate business expense of the President of the United States?

This question was raised Tuesday by a St. Paul, Minn., businessman who challenged tax regulations proposed by the Internal Revenue Service to implement a new law designed to curb expense account abuses.

Testifying at public hearings on the suggested rules, Henry G. Fousard, president of the St. Paul area Chamber of Commerce, argued that wives attending business dinners have as much right to eat on the expense account as does the First Lady and wives of American ambassadors.

President Kennedy and U.S. ambassadors are given special funds to help finance official entertainment.

Lions Will Sponsor Home Lighting Contest

The Christmas home lighting and decorating contest will be sponsored again this year by the Salem Lions Club, with the cooperation of local merchants.

William Readshaw is general chairman, assisted by Howard Schaefer, Earl Wilkinson and Clifford Zimmerman, all members of the Lions club.

This season's contest is open to all residents of Perry Township and the city of Salem proper.

There will be one grand prize of a $50 defense bond for the most outstanding display in the entire area, Readshaw explained. Heretofore, there were individual first prizes for the city and the suburban township area.

In addition to the $50 bond, there will be at least five $25 prizes and prizes for honorable mention.

The lighting display categories this year have been extended to five, rather than four. They are:

1. Best religious display.
2. Best over-all decoration.
3. Best doorway.
4. Best decorated tree, inside or out, but to be seen from the street.
5. Best Santa Claus display.

The Santa Claus display is new this year.

Persons entering the contest should send their name and address and type of display to Mr.

Jury Deliberating In Clerk's Case

LISBON — Sifting through six days of testimony and conflicting versions of what happened to $23,841 taken from East Liverpool water department funds, a common pleas court jury today was deliberating a verdict in the embezzlement trial of Roberta C. Smith of East Liverpool.

The panel of three men and nine women received the case at 10:05 a.m. today following instruction on the laws involved by Judge Joel H. Sharp.

Miss Smith, former chief clerk of the water department, is charged with embezzling and converting to her own use the money found missing from the department funds for the period between May 1959 and November 1961.

In her trial which began Nov. 26, the 40-year-old blonde denied taking any money, stating there had been about $11,000 in receipts taken from the office vault in September 1959 which she was told to "cover up" by Frank Robinson, then superintendent.

In his closing argument yesterday afternoon, Prosecutor G. Wil-

Lisbon Case Heard By Appeals Court

The 7th District Court of Appeals Tuesday in Youngstown heard an appeal of Common Pleas Court Judge Joel H. Sharp's ruling that a state anti-gambling law, which went into effect Sept. 1, 1961, is unconstitutional.

The court delayed its ruling pending further study.

Columbiana County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw and a representative of the attorney general's office filed the appeal following the dismissal of indictments against the Lisbon Sales Book Co. and four of its officers indicted by a grand jury Sept. 21, 1961, for printing numbers books.

Judge Sharp ruled the law is unconstitutional because it does not take into consideration intention or knowledge by the manufacturer of the purpose of the numbers slips.

The firm's officers, all of Pittsburgh, are Martin Sufrin, president; Isadore Sufrin, vice president; Joseph Sufrin, secretary-treasurer, and Michael Schedlmeier, manager.

Plan May Abolish Eight Divisions, Reorganize Others

WASHINGTON (AP)—Governors held their fire for the most part as the Pentagon unveiled its program designed to get more ready-to-go combat punch into fewer National Guard and Army Reserve units.

An outcry had been predicted by some. It still may come. But Tuesday's announcement by the Defense Department drew only a request by Gov. Albert D. Rossellini of Washington that his colleagues withhold approval of the National Guard proposals until after a Pentagon meeting with state adjutants general next Monday.

Rossellini, chairman of the National Governor's Conference, said he personally opposes abolition of National Guard units in his state. He urged other governors to wait until after a special committee of the conference looks into the matter after Monday's meeting.

The shakeup, in the works for eight months or more, will build reserve strength "far greater than anything we have known in the past," Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said in announcing it.

The order goes into effect automatically for Army Reserve units. Approval by governors is needed for any changes in the National Guard during peacetime.

In brief, the Pentagon proposes Abolishing four Army Reserve and four National Guard divisions plus a net of 731 smaller units it considers out of date.

Placing most of the men from the abolished units into 11 new brigades, new support units, and six high priority National Guard divisions. The last would be an elite first line of Army Reserve forces.

Salem Unit Faces No Major Change
Capt. Thomas I. Broadhurst of Youngstown, area Army Reserve unit adviser, reported today that the re-alignment of reserve units will not "basically change" the set-up of the 7th Medium Tank Battalion headquartered in Salem.

"There will probably be a cut in personnel of not more than five per cent, but no unit re-designation or re-organization," the captain said.

The Salem unit, part of the 83rd Infantry Division of the 20th U.S. Army Corps, now has a strength of 350 men, 155 from Salem and the balance from East Liverpool, East Palestine and Lordstown.

strength, and keeping 13 reserve divisions as training units.

The over-all aim to provide the six National Guard divisions with 11,000 men each and enough equipment, training and support to get them ready for movement to a firing line within eight weeks of a call to active duty. There are 16 regular Army divisions.

The shakeup won't affect the over-all size of the reserve, which isn't up to the 700,000-man goal set by Congress. But higher standard for reservists may make it harder to reach that

Rotary to Fete Crippled Children

Plans were discussed for the crippled children's Christmas party Dec. 18 at the Memorial Building when 75 members of the Rotary Club met Tuesday at the Memorial Building.

Included in the event will be Santa Claus and Elden Nichols, a magician from Greensburg, Pa.

Bruce Gordon, chairman of the crippled children's committee, gave a financial report and stated that the success of Pancake Day Oct. 27 will enable the club to continue crippled children's work in a much more positive way than has been done in the recent past. The event netted $1,145.50.

There will be two Democratic vacancies next year and liberals are backing Reps. Pat Jennings, Virginia Democrat, and Ross Bass, Tennessee Democrat, for the seats now held by two conservative Democrats.

Salvation Army Asks Applications For Food Baskets

Applications for food baskets for Christmas are being taken by the Salvation Army from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. and 2 to 4 p. m. every day except Sunday at the army headquarters on S. Broadway.

Those seeking baskets should come to the headquarters rather than phoning or applying through a third person, according to Capt. Jeanne Manholan.

The Salvation Army has been a clearing house for Christmas giving to the needy and has proved to be a satisfactory plan as it avoids duplication and omissions.

Organizations which have already selected a family to help at Christmas should call the Salvation Army with the information, and those wishing a family to assist should contact the army as soon as possible.

can say is that it deserves its fame. Every person to whom we have served this offering has thoroughly enjoyed it.

We suspect this cake derives from the whiskey fruitcake recipes given in Southern cookbooks published at the turn of this century. In recent years, Mrs. Marion Flexner—longtime resident of Louisville—put a modern version on the map when she included a recipe for such a cake in one of her delicious cook books.

Since Mrs. Flexner's introduction of the rule, there have been other adaptations, and the following directions are some that came our way.

A few words to prepare you, should you decide to bake this extravaganza. All the cakes of this sort tried in our kitchen come out of the oven with a cracked top—just as do angelfood cakes made from mixes—and with a tendency to crumble.

However, if the cake made by the following recipe is tightly wrapped and thoroughly chilled, it may be sliced into attractive thin pieces. To do this, we use a long serrated bread knife and a sawing motion, and we strongly advise you to follow suit.

KENTUCKY PECAN CAKE

1½ pounds pecan halves, 1 package (1½ ounces) seedless raisins, 2 cups finely cut candied orange peel, 3 cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 4 teaspoons nutmeg, 1 cup butter, 2½ cups sugar, 6 eggs (separated) 1 cup bourbon whiskey.

Cut each of the pecan halves into 3 crosswise slices. Rinse raisins in hot water; drain; dry on a towel.

Mix pecans, raisins and orange peel with 1 cup of the flour. Sift the remaining 2 cups flour with the baking powder, salt and nutmeg. Cream butter and sugar, using a very large mixing bowl.

Beat egg yolks until thickened and lemon colored; beat into creamed mixture. Add sifted dry ingredients, alternately with bourbon, mixing until smooth each time. Gradually fold in the pecan mixture. Beat egg whites until they hold stiff peaks and fold in.

Turn into a greased 10-inch angelfood cake pan that has been lined with brown paper greased on both sides; let stand for 10 minutes. Bake in a slow (300 degrees) oven for about 3 hours or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean.

Place cake in pan on wire rack until partly cool; turn out; turn rightside up. Cool completely.

Leave brown paper on cake; wrap tightly; store in refrigerator for a few days before slicing; continue refrigerator storage as long as cake lasts.

All Enemies Are Ruthless

This Dec. 7 will be the 21st anniversary of the carelessness that caused Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor to be successful.

The "day that will live in infamy," as President Roosevelt said it should, is remembered better than any other event in World War II.

But as time passes, Dec. 7, 1941, is being remembered more for U.S. fat-headedness than Japanese ruthlessness. It would have been hard for the Japanese to be anything but ruthless that Sunday morning. They were shooting fish in a barrel. They never dreamed it would be so easy.

To paraphrase Winston Churchill's comment on the airmen who saved Britain, never have so many Americans owed their deaths to so much official fat-headedness.

With only 100 planes and a few midget submarines, the Japs destroyed 177 U. S. planes and put out of commission temporarily or permanently the better part of 88 ships tied up for the forthcoming slaughter.

They could not have done more than a fraction of this damage or killed more than a handful of the men who lost their lives that day if the U. S. Navy, the U. S. Army and the U. S. politicians had been doing what they were responsible for doing.

The politicians are supposed to look out for the country's international relations and not be caught napping. They were sound asleep Dec. 7, 1941. The militarists are supposed to keep their weapons at the ready and not doze off at their sentry posts. They were remiss on both counts. They hadn't even come to when the Japs hit Manila the next day. The planes were lined up for slaughter on the ground there, too; all were wiped out.

The day "will live in infamy." But unless it taught the American people something, nothing will be gained by remembering it.

The lesson is easy: If you ask for a sucker punch, you will get it.

But it is hard to learn.

The United States is asking for another sucker punch. It is taking at their word spokesmen for a government that has no good will in it and is dead set on pushing the United States into oblivion.

Cuba could be another Pearl Harbor. All the elements are there if the United States asks for a sucker punch.

It assuredly will get one if it lets Russian spokesmen lull it to sleep the way the two Japanese gentlemen sweet-talked the Rooseveltians into a coma right up to the moment their country launched its attack.

The infamy that Dec. 7, 1941, lives in is the incredible gullibility of the U. S. government. The United States cannot afford to turn its back in a dog-eat-dog world. Even its "friends" are capable of mad-dog antics.

The brightest thing the sometimes-not-too-bright Washington decision makers could do right now would be to rename Guantanamo Naval Base "Pearl Harbor" and call the southern part of the Florida peninsula the "Philippines."

Twenty-one years later our politicians and defenders are tempting another ruthless enemy to knock us off. Aren't all enemies ruthless? Is there any other kind?

Second-Guessing With Malice

There is a school of second-guessing whose disciples talk like this:

Events after the end of World War II didn't pan out the way they should have because the Soviet Union became obstreperous, therefore the United States never should have allied itself with the Russians; it should have joined Hitler and his bully-boys instead, because they were trying to beat the Russians in the first place;

Or, events after the attack by Britain, France and Israel on Egypt at the height of the Suez fracas have been a headache for the Western Powers, with Arab nationalism getting out of hand, including Algeria, therefore it would have been better if the Suez adventure had been condoned by the United Nations, because it would have cooled off Arab nationalism;

Or, events after the Korean War proved the United Nations and the United States gained nothing except uneasy maintenance of the ante bellum status quo, therefore it would have been better if communists had been given a free rein in Korea unless the United States was willing to go all out in a major war to overcome Red China;

Or, events in Cuba after the corrupt Batista regime had opened the way for Castro's revolution have proved Castro is no better than Batista, who was a staunch anticommunist whereas Castro is a communist, therefore the United States should have underwritten Batista's shabby government because it wouldn't have to worry now about Castro;

Or, events in the Confederate states since the Civil War have revealed that the issues of that war never were settled and the 14th amendment to the Constitution wasn't ratified to suit Southerners who are still waving Confederate flags and standing up for states' rights, therefore it would have been better if Abraham Lincoln hadn't saved the Union. Many Southerners talk as if they believed this.

This is second-guess with malice.

Sauce For the Ganders

After Jan. 1, 1963, tax deductions for business travel and entertainment expenses that are not substantiated in detail will be disallowed by the Internal Revenue Service.

The new regulations require taxpayers to keep detailed entries in diaries or expense statements, besides furnishing proof of all travel and entertainment outlays above $10.

The written records must provide such information as the date and hour a business trip begins; how many days it takes, the location of each stop and its business purpose.

Entertainment records must specify the names and occupations of the people entertained and their "business relationship to the taxpayer."

As rigid as the new regulations are, we believe the average businessman would find less reason for criticism if he could be assured that all congressmen and senators made a public accounting of their expenses incurred on world junkets for which taxpayers foot the bill.

You Too, Mr. Bull

By Truman Twill

If Queen Elizabeth, Prime Minister Macmillan, or John Bull himself jumped out of a Rolls Royce to ask about joining the European Economic Community I'd tell 'em. Straight from the shoulder.

This is because I have been having second thoughts about the South.

I'd hate to see British irreconcilables head for a collision in Europe over the same issues that separate the North and South 100 years after the Civil War.

Britain is being torn apart politically over whether to throw in with the European Economic Community, which would be the first step toward a United States of Europe. Many Britons, notably Labor party politicians are fighting to save Britain's identity.

Some Europeans, notably Charles de Gaulle, strong man of France, also doubt that Britain belongs in a United States of Europe. They mistrust British capacity for getting along with Europeans at close range.

Sooner or later, if the British throw in their lot with a United States of Europe, trouble would boil and bubble over a collective decision at odds with British sentiment.

The British would get starchy. They would remember the famous occasions in the remote past when Britons refused to be pushed. Their Colonel Blimp would push out their bellies and start harrumphing.

And the Old World would have a civil war going like a fire in a paint factory. Everybody would lose his shirt. No one would win.

It would be smarter for the British to sit on the proposition and wait for something to develop—perhaps a civil war between the European Economic Community and some other dissident member.

This would open the probability of British economic hardship, but it would beat the probability of eventual compulsory membership in Europe's new economic union—the greatest closed-shop design since Abraham Lincoln made it clear that the South had forfeited its right to drop out of the Union by joining it in the first place.

There won't be a United States of Europe without a civil war. Sooner or later someone is going to want out and there will be a showdown.

And if it comes to a showdown you can bet that a century later the losers still will be waving Confederate flags and chanting "Dixie."

It shouldn't happen to the good old British. They're too important to the rest of us. They're the only people in the Old World we can love over here in the New World.

If they know what's good for them they will not jeopardize their independence by stringing along with people they would fight with, as they always have in the past.

Instead of getting into the European Economic Community in haste and being sorry for it at leisure, they should play hard to get. If they hold out long enough, they'll be rich.

You can bet on it, your Majesty. Mr. Prime Minister and you, too, Mr. Bull.

Dissension Within Party Hindering GOP Efforts

What's wrong with the Republican party? This isn't exactly the theme of the meeting to be held here next Friday and Saturday of the Republican national committee and state chairmen, but it might well be.

The Republican party, while possessed of potential strength with the voters, has failed to pay attention to the most practical lesson that party politics in America has taught. It is that a party out of power is the party of opposition. It is obligated to inform the country of the mistakes and errors in policy committed by the party in power and to point out what such acts mean to the future welfare of the country.

An opposition party doesn't really need a concrete program of its own, nor is it expected to be "left" or "right" or "center" or "moderate." It is primarily concerned with ousting from office what it considers—and seeks to make the country believe—is a fumbling, misguided and dangerous party.

To be effective, an opposition party has to be a united party—united on only one thing: How to defeat the party in power. If the leaders of the opposition party spend too much time fighting each other and trying to pick candidates on the basis of particular programs or legislative proposals, the party is doomed to defeat.

For the last two years the Republicans have been quarreling among themselves. They managed to win some state elections recently, but they haven't discovered yet why they won them.

THE TRUTH is in most cases they won by persuading the electorate that it was "time for a change"—that the incumbent governors had made too many mistakes for the good of the states. This is called voting "against the ins and in favor of the outs."

In Great Britain, for example, the opposition is well organized. In year in and year out a "shadow cabinet" is on the job. It consists of men who will not necessarily occupy the same posts if the opposition is victorious at the polls but it does mean that specialists in the work of each department of the executive branch of the government spend full time every day observing and analyzing the news of current proposals—domestic and foreign.

The group consists of knowledgeable persons able to speak out and tell the public what's wrong and how much better off the country would be if it only had a different party at the helm.

In this country, the most spectacular example of how an opposition party worked toward eventual success occurred between 1928 and 1932. Herbert Hoover was elected president in 1928 by an overwhelming majority.

The Democrats were discouraged. John Raskob, however, promptly helped to finance the Democratic National Committee and insisted on an opposition strategy. Charles Michelson, well-known newspaperman of his day, was hired to supervise a board of strategy. His finesse and skill soon started an opposition trend in the country.

WHEN ECONOMIC conditions changed for the worse in 1930, the Democrats were able to make the people of the country believe that this was the fault of the Republican administration, though actually it wasn't. Conditions were really turning for the better throughout the world in November 1932, when the country voted the Republican party out of power.

At the time of the national convention in 1932, nobody could be certain who the Democratic candidate would be. In fact, the Raskob group really wanted Al Smith named to head the ticket again. Franklin D. Roosevelt, then governor of New York, had a hard time winning the nomination. He won the November election because the national party was against the party in power.

During the campaign, moreover, there was hardly a hint of what later became widely known as the New Deal.

The Republicans of today are confused in their political thinking. They still believe, for instance, that the Negro vote in the North is overwhelmingly Democratic because of the "civil rights" issue, when the truth is the colored voters are much more concerned about pocketbook issues.

Analysts on the staff of Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., who was re-elected last month by a big majority, point to the statistics they have gathered which show that he received 34 per cent of the votes in 11 districts in New York City which are predominantly Negro.

Since, in the previous election, he received 32 per cent, this is regarded as a significant increase. Mr. Javits might readily have gotten far more than a 2 per cent increase among Negro voters in New York City—and also attracted more of the conservative votes in other parts of the state—if he had stressed the unemployment issue and economic adversity, past, present and future.

ASPIRANTS for the Republican presidential nomination would fare better by spending more time making speeches of opposition than by fanning the flames of dissension within their own party. The Republicans allow themselves to be divided into factions when their main job, politically speaking, is to tell the country what's really happening to it.

This is especially important at a time when even some of the best friends of the administration are accusing it of "manipulating" the news. The President's virtual monopoly on the air and on the front pages of the newspapers nearly every day isn't the fault of the broadcasters or of the press but is due to the fact that the Republicans don't seem to know how to make news, which is the first lesson a party out of power needs to learn.

I can't understand why our school superintendent doesn't assign a coach for seventh grade basketball.

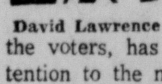

There is no seventh grade team, or coach, for the boys who played in the Mickey McGuire League last year and are now eligible for a seventh grade team. I am sure that if Supt. Smith talked to some of the parents of these young athletes he would assign one of our good coaches to this squad.

Old Railroad Order on Way Out

From the Files

By VICTOR RIESEL

There certainly will be a railroad strike, I have just been told. I trust my source. He is one of those sitting in on the series of union strategy meetings at Chicago, Cleveland and Washington.

The stoppage may paralyze 201,160 miles of track. This would mean that all 195 rail companies would be struck. Or there may be a selective strike.

A key road would be hit west of the St. Louis and Chicago terminals, along with one to the east. These would be immobilized to display the strength of the railway workers' brotherhoods.

The stoppages may come next February or March. Or they may not develop for a year if the Supreme Court intervenes. But if there is a strike, a settlement and peace will follow swiftly.

That settlement will be the formula for the conversion from the era symbolized by the iron horse to the space age, not yet really symbolized by anything but elementary moon ship mock-up.

WITH VARIATIONS on the theme, that formula will reveal what will happen to the tens of thousands of men bumped by space age wizardry. Sooner or later the railroads will reach the day when they can legally lay off 13,000 locomotive firemen, who will go with heavy hearts but not with empty pockets.

Those who have been working on the railroads for five to 10 years will receive a year's notice of lay-off. Then they will get a special layoff pay for 3 years. This will come to just under $100 a week for 36 months, the railroad people tell me.

The dismissed men will receive this allowance even if they find other jobs. If they do, they then can keep all the money they earn plus the $100 a week.

They can apply for retraining. The carrier will pay 75 per cent of this cost for two years. At all times the firemen—as well as any of the other thousands who will be laid off—are part of a national railroad hiring pool with preferential rehiring rights.

Those who have less than five years' experience will get from 3 to 12 months' notice of layoff. Then they will receive from 6 to 18 months' severance pay. All can take the money in a lump sum or over the extended period.

IN ALL there are 46,000 firemen. Six thousand of these are on passenger trains. They will not be dismissed. This leaves 40,000 on the over-the-road freight trains and in the railroad yards. When the 13,000 younger firemen are gone, there will be 27,000 left. They will have lifetime jobs. But as they retire and pass on their spots will not be filled.

Thus, in years to come there will be only two men in the locomotive cabs of freight trains—the engineer and the brakeman.

Thus slowly the $1.6 billion which the roads have been losing daily because of extra men will begin to dwindle. But what of the other thousands the lines want to lay off?

Here is what a presidential commission reported after 16 months of study:

"Carriers should have an unlimited right to introduce technological change. Changes requiring amendment of rules or agreements affecting craft lines, seniority or working conditions should be negotiated with the employees; failing to agree the matter should be referred to a special tribunal for final determination."

And the roads are prepared to go first to the brotherhoods for agreement on dismissals. If they disagree, they will go to compulsory arbitration.

EVENTUALLY some 25,000 additional railroad workers will be released in this fashion. Experts tell me it will take two decades before the lines have completely eliminated the 65,000 jobs they believe to be surplus in the electronic and Diesel locomotive age. There will be other cuts. These will come during the rail mergers. If the Pennsylvania and New York Central consolidate, the unions say it will cost 15,000 other jobs. However, there really is no definitive accounting now.

But certainly the old crafts are disappearing. Once, some 10 years ago, the brotherhoods had 1.1 million members. Now it takes some 740,000 to run our railroads. Sooner or later the figure will be at 685,000.

I recall writing rail stories involving two million workers; and mine stories concerning 600,000; and steel stories reporting on 1.25 million men. But the old order changes.

The formula appears to be developing around aid to the younger workers seeking new fields while the older men are guaranteed their jobs but the jobs themselves eventually go. And openings in the space age business make room for the newcomers.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from "Debbie" and was stunned because I had a similar experience 30 years ago.

We had a large, gray tomat named Sir Gregory. He hated my boy friend, Horace. Sir Gregory's hair stood on end whenever Horace came to see me. He hid under the buffet when Horace was in the house. When Horace walked past the buffet Sir Gregory lashed out and scratched his highly polished leather shoes.

Once Sir Gregory put his claws clean through Horace's sox.

I married Horace and it was the biggest mistake of my life. He turned out to be selfish and unfaithful. The kindness he showered on me during courtship was an act. I wish I had known then that animals have instincts about people who are putting on a false front.

I hope and pray that "Debbie" drops her boy friend and finds a young man her aireale can warm up to. — SMART TOO LATE.

Dear Smart: The divorce rate in this country is at a point where perhaps mate selection ought to be left to the family pets. They couldn't do much worse than people.

Snoopy Mother

Dear Ann: My husband and I went away for a month's vacation in October. We left our house key with the people next door and asked them to check every few days to see if everything was okay. (We did the same thing for them last year.)

When we returned the neighbors informed us that my husband's mother had asked for our house key the day after we left. She said she would do the checking.

She then went over daily and spent several hours doing heaven knows what. A few days before we returned, she gave the key back to the neighbors and asked them not to say anything because I might not like it.

I am fuming. My husband agrees that she had no right to do this. But he thinks it would serve no purpose to chew her out.

Breakfast In Bed

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—A man's word is his bond.

For a long, long time I had been promising my wife, Frances, that on our silver wedding anniversary I would bring her breakfast in bed.

So when the great day finally came, I leaned above her by the dawn's early light, and tenderly asked: "What'll you have, dear?"

"Just orange juice, toast, scrambled eggs and bacon and tea," she murmured sleepily.

"Well, then, get up and fix it!" I told her.

"But all these years you promised you'd serve me breakfast in bed on our 25th anniversary," protested Frances. "Some years that prospect is about all that kept me going."

"I do intend to serve you breakfast in bed. But first you have to get up and cook it, don't you?" But she padded out to the kitchen, fixed breakfast, then climbed back into bed, and I served it to her—according to plan.

Then, as married people do on such occasions, we fell to reminiscing about the past.

Frances remembered everything about our wedding at the "Little Church Around the Corner" here in 1937—who was there, what she wore, what I wore, who said what to whom.

All I could recall about the cere-

What would you do if you were in my shoes? — FRIED.

Dear Fried Shoes: Nothing now. Your husband is right. In the future instruct the neighbors not to give the house key to ANYONE. They'll understand and so will your mother-in-law.

mony was that—my bride brought me only a dowry of $100—we either had to forego having the candles at the altar lit, $2, or the organ music—was it $5 or $10?

"Our wedding dinner was spaghetti, meat sauce and a bottle of wine," said Frances. "It cost $2. I remember I had to lend you the money."

"And the bedstead in that quaint little hotel in Greenwich Village you brought me home to didn't even have legs. It was supported by four stacks of bricks."

Discussing our quarter century of marital experience, I asked my wife:

"What do you think now are the hardest years of marriage?"

"The first 25," she replied promptly, then added fervently, "I hope!"

Actually, the wear and tear of the years shows more on me than on her. I have grown fat and partly bald from weathering a depression, two wars and recessions.

But my wife, who had a streak of premature gray in her hair at marriage, now shows no sign of silver threads among the gold. Some years back her hair suddenly turned blonde and youthful looking overnight, an occurrence which is still known to other dwellers on our apartment house floor as "The miracle in Apartment 8-F."

Wasteful Water Users Let Money 'Pour Down Drain'

By VIRGINIA HURRAY
Who'd pour money down the drain?
No one, you might say, but, according to Salem water department workers, hundreds of dollars are represented in the water that drains away uselessly in local homes because of leaky faucets, faulty bathroom tanks, and wasteful personal habits.

Eloise Vincent presided when 12 members of the Silver Thimble 4-H Club met recently in the home of Judy and Peggy Zimmerman.

Devotions were led by Donna Huston.

The group voted to make a donation to CROP.

Demonstrations were given by Betty Lou Windle on "Good Grooming," and Donna Huston on making "Baby's First Book." Carol Solomon gave a talk on "How to be Healthy."

while he is shaving. And the woman who lets water in the kitchen sink run all the while she is cleaning vegetables.

Water department workers, Mrs. Glenn Whinnery and Mrs. Mary Koppenhafer, say they have no objections whatever to taking in money for the use of city water. But sometimes they get complaints from water users "simply amazed" at the size of their bills. The clerks in the northeast office of City Hall wish everyone knew how easily (and needlessly) a sizable water bill can be created. "Once in a great while, a meter is overread. Usually, though, people just don't realize how much water they use," declares Mrs. Koppenhafer.

The average amount of water used per day in Salem per family is 130 gallons. The water bill for a quarter of a year, 90 days, is $7.60 for 11,700 gallons. (Can you account for how 130 gallons are used at your house every day?)

And speaking of water bills, there are some people - a small minority - who have great difficulty remembering to pay theirs. Among strange reasons cited by local water users for not paying water bills were these: the minister came to dinner; and a relative died and the money had to be used for flowers. (In a period of five years, one user's mother-in-law died three times!)

Getting back to the size of the bill, if you want to keep it dwarfish, beware of the bathroom tank which "sings"! For what you might have to pay for a day of tank "singing," you could easily afford the newest Perry Como or Frankie Fontaine record album.

According to Aubrey Hayes, Salem's utilities superintendent until this week, five or six dollars worth of water a day can be wasted when the valve inside a bathroom tank is allowed to remain suspended in space instead of its being caused to fall into place to close off the flow of water.

Can Too Many U.S. Officials Classify Papers As 'Secret'?

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a series of three analyses on government information policies.

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—It's not only paper; it's people. Stamp of document "secret" or don't talk. The government has those two basic ways to keep information from the public. The excuse is the general good.

The idea is to prevent release of certain kinds of information which might hurt national security. Sometimes this is justified. Sometimes it's not and is overdone. Two examples of overdoing it:

1. The Pentagon several years ago concealed information on the number of transport planes used to ferry officials abroad. The ban was lifted under protest from Congress.

2. The Migratory Bird Conservation Commission and the Indian Arts and Crafts Board had the right to make documents secret. This happened under President Eisenhower's administration. The reason wasn't sinister.

Some of his aides, in a grand gesture giving all kinds of agencies the right to withhold documents, forgot to exclude the bird commission and the art and crafts board.

The plane, the bird and the crafts illustrate the reason for was lifted under protest from Congress and news media on oneside and, on the other, the government and some of its overly secret-minded officials.

The squabbling now is with the Kennedy administration. But it has a history. From earliest times the government, if necessary, had the right to hold back certain military - diplomatic information. There were few restrictions before World War I. They multiplied from then on.

As soon as that war began, before this country was in it, President Wilson warned Army and Navy officers not to talk on Europe's military and political problems. When this country got in, two things happened: censorship and the first organized attempt to classify documents to restrict their release.

A year before the United States went into World War II news organizations were asked to avoid mentioning certain kinds of information, like ship movements. (The Kennedy administration did the same thing during this year's Cuban crisis.) Information controls tightened as the World War II defense program progressed. Once in the war, censorship began again.

After the hot war came the cold war, far more secrecy was needed, and was imposed by the government, than in any previous peacetime period. President Truman's administration wrestled with plans for withholding certain information, the so-called "classified" material. In 1951 he finally issued regulations for such classification. They were too sweeping, needed revision.

In 1953 Eisenhower kept the plan but did revising, and more of it later. Yet in 1956 one Air Force official told Congress he estimated that perhaps one million government employees had authority to classify documents. To make things goofier some documents couldn't be declassified unless the original classifier approved, although by then he might have been out of the government and even his agency abolished.

Kennedy got up to his neck in news blackout when the Cuban rebels in 1961 made their tragic U.S.-backed attempt to invade their homeland. For a few days top American officials, from Kennedy down, professed innocence and ignorance about help for the rebels. (A somewhat similar blackout occurred in 1960 under the Eisenhower administration when the American U2 plane was shot down over the Soviet Union.) Then suddenly Kennedy took full blame for the invasion fiasco. Three days later he went before the American Newspaper Publishers Association and urged "self-restraint" on matters involving national security. He suggested some voluntary form of it.

Then came the 1962 crisis over Russian missiles in Cuba. This time Kennedy's team truly "managed" the news. This was admitted by Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, who frankly said the administration manipulated news as part of its "weaponry." Newsmen hotly criticized him for this. He spent a lot of time trying to explain his phrasing.

But in between times three things happened: The White House, at the peak of the Cuban business, asked the wire news services and television and radio networks to use caution and discretion with 12 categories of information, such as ship movements. The White House withdrew this request when the crisis subsided.

Sylvester told Pentagon officials and the State Department told its people to report the substance of every interview with newsmen. This got a hot denunciation from newsmen, too.

The State Department subsequently dropped its order, or so it said. But Sylvester refused to backdown on his. Rather, he said the Pentagon is giving out more information now than it ever did. In the past 22 months, he said, the number of its news releases has increased 40 per cent.

AP Survey Names Class A All-Ohio Football Squad

Rospert Chosen As Top Lineman

Honor Sophomore As Back Of Year

By HAL PARIS
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The "little fellows" were honored today as The Associated Press named its 1962 Class A All-Ohio high school football team.

The players, selected by coaches, officials and sports writers, come from some 150 schools with 180 or fewer boys.

A sophomore triple-threat performer from Frankfort was lauded as the Back of the Year. Joe Yager, a 185-pound, 5-10 speedster, won the accolade, based on some grid heroics that are hard to believe.

The 15-year-old star scored 124 points, carried 138 times for 805 yards, did all the passing, punting, kicking off, and averaged 15 tackles a game on defense.

A 3.5 student, Yager also lettered in basketball, track and baseball and is president of the sophomore class.

Jack Rospert, offensive guard and linebacker for Norwalk St. Paul, won the lineman of the year honor. Rospert, a 17-year-old senior, stands 6-1 and 185. He led his team in tackles and blocked five punts on defense.

Other backs named on the smaller school dream team are quarterback Jim Morrison of Akron St. Mary and backs Larry Coomer of Cardington and Ron Grieshop of Coldwater.

Morrison connected in 75 passes in 130 tries for 1,279 yards and 18 touchdowns; Coomer scored 184 points to boost his four-year career total to 519 points; and Grieshop, a two-way performer, tallied 126 points.

The offensive ends are George Maurer of Columbus St. Mary and Neal Esmonde, Pandora; tackles Joe Aul, Strasburg and Bob Moor, Delta; guards Rospert and Gary West, Fairfield Union and center Dave Finkbeiner, Maumee Valley Country Day. The latter is one of the few private school players ever to make an All-Ohio team.

A flock of fine offensive stars were relegated to the defensive unit or honorable mention status because of the intense competition.

Among them are Ken Brown of Tiltonville, who gained 1,092 yards in 94 carries; Carl Ruhl of Bellville, 1,473 yards in 130 runs; Dan Yocheim of Smithville, 140 points and Chop Ullman of Fort Frye, an outstanding runner and defensive interior lineman.

Mount's Ralph Roberts Is Honorable Mention Small College All-American Football Squad Is Selected

NEW YORK (AP) — Passing maestro George Bork, mammoth tackle Junious Buchanan, end Drew Roberts and back Joe Iacone head the 11 small college standouts named today to The Associated Press' 1962 Little All-American football team.

Bork, the Northern Illinois quarterback who was the No. 1 passer among the collegians parading their talents in smaller stadiums around the country, is the only junior on the first team. All others are seniors, and many may be playing in professional ranks next fall.

Buchanan, a 6-foot-6, 272-pound lineman who does double duty as a sprinter for Grambling, was the No. 1 selection in the American Football League draft held last weekend. He immediately signed with the Dallas Texans.

Roberts of Humboldt State in California and Iacone of West Chester, Pa., are the only repeaters from the 1961 Little All-American team.

Salem Grid Dinner Is Saturday Night

Football players, the coaching staff and cheerleaders of Salem High School will be honored at a recognition dinner at Senior High cafeteria Saturday at 6:30 p.m.

The Boosters Club, which annually sponsors the event, has obtained Johnny Pont of Miami University as guest speaker.

Salem started off its campaign by taking its first four contests in stride as coach Blaine Morton guided the Red and Black to victories over Ashland, Youngstown North, Ravenna and Farrell, Pa.

The Quakers dropped four of their last six games to finish with a 6-4 record.

In three years Morton has guided Salem to 9-1, 6-4 and 6-4 seasons.

Pont has been head mentor at Miami for seven years. During that span the Redskins have compiled a 43-21-2 record.

In Mid-American Conference action Miami has swept to two championships and a 25-8-2 mark under Pont's direction.

Giants Will Test Rookies In New York

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bookie

Bolin, Aaron Thomas, Johnny Counts, Dick Pesonen, Ralph Guglielmi.

These are some of the names Cleveland football fans may be hearing Sunday when the New York Giants, who have wrapped up the NFL's Eastern Division championship, entertain the Browns. Except for Guglielmi, the names probably are not familiar to many fans.

Giants coach Allie Sherman said Tuesday he planned to start his regular team against the Browns but added that he would work in the younger men as much as possible.

Guglielmi was in briefly during the opening game of the season when the Browns defeated the Giants 17-7. The young quarterback was snowed under by blitzing Browns on a couple of plays and didn't have much opportunity to show what he can do.

Among others mentioned by Sherman as likely to get work: Bolin, a rookie guard from Mississippi; Pesonen, a third-year halfback from Minnesota and Walker, a second-year guard from Michigan State.

Hilltoppers Rip Wesleyan

Ed Diddle Directs Team To 750th Win

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
An 18-year-old sophomore sought by over 60 colleges who is shaking the staid Ivy League and a 67-year-old coach who has been overworking a large red towel for some 40 years. That's the unlikely combination sharing today's college basketball spotlight.

The sophomore sensation is young Bill Bradley, a 6-foot-5 product of Crystal City, Mo., who turned his back on his own backyard and wound up at Princeton. He scored 28 points in his first game and came back with 27 Tuesday night in the Tigers' 68-53 victory over Villanova.

The old man is Western Kentucky Coach Ed Diddle, who has been at the Ohio Valley Conference school for 41 years. He displayed all his towel-flapping tricks as the Hilltoppers wrote his 750th triumph into the record book by blating Texa Wesleyan 101-66.

Bucking for a place in the spotlight were two of the nation's top pre-season choices—second-ranked Duke, which rolled over South Carolina 95-63 in an Atlantic Coast Conference clash, and sixth-rated Mississippi State, 90-55 conqueror of Arkansas A&M in its season debut.

In two Southern Conference games on a schedule heavy with intersectional and interconference contests, Virginia Tech downed Richmond 76-68 for its 37th consecutive home court victory and defending league champion West Virginia opened conference play with a 100-74 triumph over VMI.

Elsewhere, Notre Dame beat Michigan State 92-85 after a basket by soph Jay Miller broke a tie, Laverne Tart led Bradley on a 90-57 waltz past North Dakota, Oklahoma set a school scoring record in a 96-83 decision over SMU, Vanderbilt outlasted Rice 80-68 and Oregon edged Washington 59-57 on a pair of foul shots by Elliott Gleason with 30 seconds left.

Princeton got off to a fast start against Villanova, Bradley connecting for 17 points in the first half, as the Ivy Leaguers built a 33-25 halftime edge and were never headed. Bradley wound up with 10 for 15 from the floor, made all seven foul shots and was credited with eight assists.

No. 750 was easy for Diddle. Junior Darel Carrier hit on all seven of his shots from the floor in the first half and paced the Hilltoppers to a 59-35 halftime bulge over the Texans. Carrier, who scored 17 points in the first half, finished with 24.

Duke's Blue Devils shot at a 67 per cent clip against the Gamecocks and had little difficulty as Art Heyman scored 28 points and Denny Ferguson and Fred Schmidt added 14 each. South Carolina's one-eyed backcourt ace Scotty Ward, had 17 points.

Carlos Ortiz Named Boxer Of The Month

NEW YORK (AP)—Carlos Ortiz of New York, who knocked out Teruo Kosaka of Japan Monday in the first defense of his world lightweight title, was named "The Fighter Of The Month" by Ring Magazine today.

In the heavyweight division, Cassius Clay of Louisville advanced from seventh to fourth because of his knockout victory over Archie Moore last month. Moore dropped from fifth to seventh.

Floyd Patterson was listed as the logical challenger for Sonny Liston's heavyweight title, followed by Eddie Machen of Portland, Ore. and Zora Foley of Chandler, Ariz. Ingemar Johansson of Sweden, who was fourth in the last ratings, dropped down a peg while Billy Daniels of New York, who knocked out Mike DeJohn of Syracuse, replaced his victim in the tenth spot.

Despite the action of the New York Athletic Commission in revoking Paul Pender's fractional middleweight crown, the Boston fighter continued to be ranked on top, along with Dick Tiger, the NBA champ. Ex-champion Gene Fullmer, Terry Downes, George Benton, Joey Giardello, Luis Folledo, Joey Giambra and Laszlo Papp, followed in that order.

Sports Facts

Al Merrill, 1964 United States Olympic Nordic team coach, coaches Dartmouth skiers.

Charles LaMotta, junior half-back from Pittsburgh, will captain Lehigh's 1963 football team.

Dennis DeJordy of the Buffalo Bisons was the first American Hockey League goal tender to register two shutouts this season.

Lou Slaby

Slaby Is Drafted By Giants, Denver

Lou Slaby, a former Salem athlete, has been chosen by the New York Giants of the NFL and Denver of the AFL during the player drafts held by the professional football loops recently.

A 6-3, 230-pound senior, Slaby started every game for Pittsburgh University as a defensive linebacker this season.

A part time fullback Lou carried the pigskin nine times for the Panthers this season and gained 22 yards for a 2.2 average.

The Giants picked Slaby during the fifth round of the NFL draft, while Denver selected him in the fourth round at their AFL meeting.

Pittsburgh posted a 5-5 record this season. Highlight of the campaign was the 7-6 upset victory over Army.

Slaby competed on the football, basketball and track teams at Salem. He was a member of the cage squad that lost to Cleveland East Tech 71-51 in the state finals at Columbus in 1959.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By RUFUS L. LIDE

Various organizations are working well, planning a National Park along Beaver Creek extending from a point in Pennsylvania to a section of Ohio, combatting the evils of pollution in the Ohio River and local streams, pushing their demands to create a new lake on the Highlandtown area, improving camping conditions in our Parks as well as other activities which are most desirable.

When enough force is extended for a good cause something's got to give. Sometimes, the cart is placed before the horse by not getting directly at the source of evil with all eyes open in one direction and closed in another.

I have direct references to the strip mining operations going on in Columbiana County with the booms going up, the booms being lowered, the clanging lids of the coal digger echoing through our beautiful hills, what we have left.

More and more farm lands being removed from the tax duplicate are now listed at about $4.00 per acre. Something taken from something leaves a worthless mine pit.

There ought to be a strong organization of real estate tax payers that are willing to band together, seek legal aid and study the mining conditions as they exist. Are the strippers reclaiming the land according to law? If not, legal action should be taken. If the existing laws are not sufficient let's have new legislation that means something.

How can it be explained that the John Barnett turkey farm in Knox Township was turned upside down by the strippers and the land leveled off and placed back into immediate production with no trace of it ever been stripped? If this was a profitable enterprise by the miners why can't the rest of the mining operations be carried on in the same manner?

Keep in mind, a once polluted stream that killed off all fish life and chased the beavers, mink and muskrats over the hill can be reclaimed just as soon as the pollution has been cleared up. There are plenty of fish available for re-stocking if this is necessary. The mink, muskrats and beavers will find their way back and the damage has been remedied.

Drive along any highway or byway in this county and look straight ahead, look to your right or to the left, you'll see spoil banks galore. The only people who profit by these operations are the landowner and the strippers. People owning good land will continue to see taxes rise as more and more land is being destroyed.

Seems to me it would be a good idea of taxing all strip land at $25.00 an acre. The owners of these mine pits won't pay the taxes of course. In that event the state or some individuals might buy the land for back taxes and there would have to be some reclaiming done.

If ever the state or federal government ever takes over such lands the tax payers will still foot the bill of leveling off. The destructive forces are the ones that should foot the bill.

While Willie Mays came up to the Giants in 1951, Tommy Heath, his manager at Minneapolis, advised the Giants that "Mays will cover center field like a tent."

Louisville Hands OU 58-54 Loss In Basketball Opener

It took Ohio University's Bobcats a little too long to get going in their basketball opener and they fell victim to perennially tough Louisville 58-54 in the feature of Tuesday night's Buckeye State collegiate card.

The Mid-American Conference club, playing before 5,500 friendly fans at Athens, managed only one field goal the first 15 minutes and four in 30 tries the first half. That put the Bobcats in a 30-18 hole, and Louisville fended off belated comeback bids, the last one cutting a 12-point deficit to the final narrow gap.

Jerry Jackson of Ohio U. capped scoring honors with 17 points.

In the Ohio Conference, an experienced Hiram team served notice it may be a factor in the race while highly regarded Akron survived a scare.

Hiram's Terriers bonped Otterbein 87-64 behind Ken Rowen's 26 points and Bill Meyer's 24, climbing to a 2-0 league—and season—record. Akron, now boasting a similar won-lost status, had to resort to a stall to thwart a Capital rally and win 62-59 at Columbus. Cap had cut a 10-point Zip lead built largely by Wyatt Webb's 20 points, to just two with 2½ minutes left.

In another OC tiff, Denison whipped Wooster 69-58 by overcoming the Scots' pressing tactics. Baldwin-Wallace stepped outside the circuit and doubled the score on Lawrence Tech of Detroit, 96-48.

In independent action, Case nosed out Cleveland rival Fenn 65-64 when Dave Ollar sank a jump shot in the final second, Central Ted Day scored 24 and Jerry Cummings 21 for the Marauders, as West Virginia State crushed and defense went out the window Wilberforce 108-72.

You'll Like Vegetable Louis

Vegetables Louis is a salad designed to be a highlight of a meal. Prepared in a torte-like fashion in layers of shredded lettuce, canned julienne beets, it is crowned with a kidney bean and bean sprout mixture which is dressed with Green Goddess dressing.

For luncheon it makes a tasty dish to serve with a hearty soup. But, don't overlook it for a dinner menu — vegetables and salad all in one.

3 green onions, 1 can (2 oz.) anchovy fillets, 1/4 cup minced parsley, 1/2 cup mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 1/4 teaspoon dried tarragon, 1 teaspoon garlic salt, 1 can (1 lb.) kidney beans, 1 can (1 lb.) bean sprouts, 3 hard cooked eggs, 1/4 cup oil-vinegar dressing, 1 can (1 lb.)

julienne style beets, 1 head iceberg lettuce.

Combine finely chopped onion, drained chopped anchovies, parsley, mayonnaise, vinegar, tarragon and garlic salt. Add drained kidney beans and bean sprouts, and chopped eggs; mix lightly. Chill 1 to 2 hours to blend flavors. Pour oil-vinegar dressing over drained beets; mix lightly and chill. Shred lettuce and put in a mound on the serving plate.

Arrange beets in a ring over the lettuce and fill the center with kidney bean mixture. Twelve servings.

ing, the other a real gift. Then eats. Then the boys, some of the glee club and some on the football team, sing Christmas carols lustily and we all join in.

Then more eats, then more songs, then more eats. Teenagers are wolves in Santa Claus clothing!

Maybe you want this hot oyster dish for your Christmas buffet:

OYSTERS FOR CHRISTMAS

(Makes 4 servings)

16 oysters, 1 can (2-ounces) mushroom stems and pieces, drained, 1/4 cup chopped onion, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 can (11-ounces) condensed Cheddar cheese soup, 2 tablespoons oyster liquid, 1 tablespoon sherry or lemon juice, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, Chopped chives, 4 slices of toast.

Drain oysters, saving liquid. In saucepan, brown mushrooms and cook onion in butter until tender.

Blend in soup until smooth. Gradually add oyster liquid, sherry or lemon juice and the 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Heat, stirring now and then. Place 1 tablespoon sauce, then 4 oysters in each of 4 ramekins; cover with remaining sauce.

Bake at 450 degrees for 15 minutes. Top with chives. Cut each slice of toast into 4 triangles; arrange around sides of dish.

Cooking Is Fun

By Cecily Brownstone

CRANBERRY GRAPE SAUCE

1 cup green grapes, 2 cups cranberries, 3/4 cup water, 1 cup sugar.

Wash grapes and drain. If seedless grapes are used and they are large, cut in half crosswise; if small, leave whole. If other grapes are used, halve lengthwise and seed.

Pick over cranberries, wash and drain. In a saucepan, bring cranberries and water to a boil; when berries begin to pop, cover and boil gently until all the skins have burst—5 minutes or longer.

Remove from heat; stir in sugar and skim; stir in grapes. Cool and serve. Makes about 3 cups.

TWO SPICY PUMPKIN PIES

4 eggs, 1 can (1 pound and 13 ounces) pumpkin, 2 cups firmly packed dark brown sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon pumpkin pie spice, 1 can (14 1/2 ounces) evaporated milk, 1-3 cup heavy cream, 2 unbaked 9-inch pie shells.

Beat eggs until foamy; add pumpkin, sugar, salt and spice; mix well. Scald the undiluted evaporated milk and the cream. Gradually stir into pumpkin mixture; turn into pie shells.

Bake in a very hot (450 degrees) oven 15 minutes; set oven control to moderate (350 degrees) and continue baking 30 to 40 minutes or until a silver knife inserted near the center comes out clean.

Place on wire racks to cool and serve warm with vanilla ice cream.

Friday night supper: salmon patties served with French-fried potatoes, broccoli and lemon butter.

When recipe directions read that a food is to be "diced," it is usually safe to cut the food into one-quarter-inch squares.

Marzipan Belongs to Christmas

Here's where kitchen sculptors take over. With a can of almond paste and other good things, you can make a batch of marzipan to mold into the sweet decorations traditional at holiday time.

Fruits are pretty and easy to create from marzipan. They may be painted with food coloring diluted with water, using a small water-color brush.

Or you can work food coloring into portions of the marzipan and go on from there. Yellow marzipan, for instance, may be used as the base for bananas, pears and strawberries.

Miniature bananas will need brown markings of cocoa dissolved in hot water, and tips of green coloring.

A yellow pear can have one of its sides painted a rosy pink. A whole clove will make the pear's blossom end and tiny green leaves cut from angelica will finish off the stem end.

The strawberries will need to be painted red. Then after you use a toothpick to make seedlike markings on their surface, the yellow base will show through and look most realistic. Angelica can make pretty hulls.

Vegetables are also fun. Try molding and coloring tiny pumpkins, peas in an open pod, carrots. Potatoes are traditionally rolled in cocoa; if you do this, keep them strictly apart from the other marzipan decorations because their skins will brush off.

MARZIPAN
1/4 cup butter or margarine, 1/4 cup light corn syrup, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon vanilla, 1 pound confectioners sugar, 1 can (8 ounces or 1 cup) almond paste.

Cream butter blending in corn syrup, salt and vanilla. Add sugar, about one-third at a time, mixing well after each addition. Knead with hands as mixture becomes stiff. Knead in almond paste.

Work vegetable food coloring into portions of the marzipan if you like.

Shape miniature fruits and vegetables; let stand uncovered to dry surface partly before painting with food coloring and embellish well after each addition. Knead ing. Makes about 1 1/4 pounds candy.

Holiday Buffet Is Jolly Affair

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Christmas Eve at our house is a festival of old friendships, cherished relatives and caroling teenagers, plus a bountiful buffet garnished with "welcome."

The buffet, long and brightly green and red with tall candles, has large casseroles of scalloped potatoes at one end on an electric tray that keeps them hot. Platters of cold roast beef, turkey breast, tongue and assorted cheeses.

A large ham, partially sliced Dill pickles in profusion, always one of the most popular items.

Mustard, white, rye and pumpkin bread, sliced and lightly buttered. Also, a fruit bowl with plenty of tangerines, bowls of salted nuts, olives, celery and radishes and lavish stacks of Christmas cookies including Lebkuchen and Pfeffernusse.

Coffee and other beverages are served on another table to prevent confusion.

The party begins with the lighting of the tall tree in the living room. Then our football playing teen-age son and one of his school friends distribute the gifts. There are two for each guest, one amusthat at the outset," Springer said to the jury. "She did what her boss told her to, what another person using his brains would have refused to do."

"She told you her story," he said. "You saw her bank accounts, her pay record. She told you herself about her going to the race track. We tried to show you she didn't take any of the money."

Springer said, "The state has tried to have her say Frank Robinson took the money—she has steadfastly denied it; she doesn't blame anyone; she doesn't know."

"There is only one issue in the case: did she take the money? The state," Springer concluded, "has failed to prove that she did, that the money faded away like a wisp of smoke."

Assistant Prosecutor Joseph Barozzi declared Springer had offered two defenses—"sympathy" and "try the other man." Barozzi referred to Miss Smith's reputation for honesty prior to the shortages and said no one who was suspect would obtain a position where funds could be taken.

Brokaw said that even had a robbery of $11,000 occurred, Miss Smith was unable to account for the additional $12,000 found missing in the state audit.

"That is the central theme of the state's case," he said. "We are not concerned with the picture shortages in the girls' cash boxes. We don't contend Roberta Smith took those amounts. We are concerned only with the money she charged to herself, and she 'doesn't know what happened to it.'"

"I can't believe that a man with 44 years in public service and in the twilight of his career would take the money or would be crooked enough to tell her to cover up," Brokaw said, referring to the late Frank Robinson.

"She comes from a fine family," the prosecutor said of Miss Smith, declaring he had gone to school with her brother and had known her brother-in-law for years. "I have sympathy for her family, but not for her."

"I ask you to try this case with your heads, not your hearts," he concluded.

The prosecutor told the jury he was not recommending a sum for the panel to set as the embezzlement figure, which is required in the event of a verdict of guilty.

The lengthy trial, now in its seventh day, saw a total of 29 witnesses appear in courtroom No. 1 which at times had as many as 20 spectators.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: Can you tell me how to remove the shine from the seat of a skirt?

LORRAINE BROS. DEAR LORRAINE: As I do not know exactly what type of material or blend you have in your skirt, I will give you the best answer I can think of after having tried everything myself.

Dip a terry cloth wash cloth in straight vinegar. Most people use white vinegar but I have never found any difference myself.

Wring the terry cloth out thoroughly. Fold this about double thickness.

Now, rub the shine on your "seat" in both directions up and down and crosswise. Soon... you should see all of the shine disappear.

London Smog Poses Threat to Health

LONDON (AP)—A dense blanket of sulphurous yellow smog gripped the British capital for the second day today, raising a threat to health and making thousands late for work.

As commuter trains crawled toward the heart of the city, health authorities warned that babies and old people should be kept at home.

"The situation is potentially serious," said a spokesman for the Medical Research Council. "Smog particularly affects the very young, the very old and people with weak hearts or chests."

London's last great exposure to smog was in 1957 when 1,000 people died from chest and heart ailments during a three-day siege. Ten years ago the toll from an eight-day smog was at least 4,000, and by some estimates 12,000.

The capital's great airport was still idle after some 30 hours of inactivity. Shipping was tied up on the River Thames and cars were abandoned across the whole metropolitan area. Rail schedules had been discarded.

Fog blanketed much of the rest of England and spread into the south of Scotland.

In London, the sulphur dioxide content in the atmosphere was six times normal and the smoke concentration nine times its usual level.

Tax

tax law is interpreted as prohibiting expense deductions for the cost of having wives attend business entertainment functions.

"I do not think it was the intention of our lawmakers to create a situation whereby they encouraged a sales representative to go out for the evening with his customer without their wives. This could be an aiding factor to the moral decay of our country," Chandler said.

Other witnesses challenged the detailed record-keeping that would be required by the regulations. They claimed the proposals would impose an impossible burden and discourage business patronage of hotels, restaurants and taverns, with adverse effects on the national economy and federal revenues.

This theme was repeated today by a spokesman for the National Association of Manufacturers.

The NAM's general counsel, Lambert H. Miller, argued the proposed tax reporting provisions would "encourage a breakdown of the self-assessment tax system and curtail such business expenditures to a point of serious economic impact on many important sectors of the national economy."

Mortimer M. Caplin, IRS commissioner, opened the two days of hearings Tuesday by announcing that some of the record-keeping proposals already have been discarded. He promised reconsideration of others drawing fire from some 60 witnesses who asked to be heard.

CAMPAIGN REPORT FILED
The East Palestine Men's Republican club spent $820 in the campaign preceding the Nov. 6 election, it said in a sworn statement of expenditures filed today with the county election board. George Hill, treasurer, signed the report. It showed overall receipts of $870. The club retained a balance of $49.

TRUCKERS FINED

Two truck drivers were fined by Mayor Dean B. Cranmer for overloading Tuesday and another truck driver was fined on a similar charge today.

Fined were: Thomas Kalinowski, 22, of Adena, O., $56 and costs, and Orrin Robinson, 28, of Cedar Springs, Mich., $25 and costs, Tuesday and Dale McDannell, 33, of Adams County, Pa., $25 and costs, today.

Adenauer Rule Threatened by Coalition Bid

BONN, Germany (AP)—The conservative Free Democrats scheduled a meeting with leaders of the opposition Socialists today in a surprise bid to form a right-left coalition to unseat Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

West Germany's serious political crisis showed no sign of solution. Adenauer and his Christian Democrats discussed coalition with Socialist leaders Tuesday but reached no decision.

A communiqué said that they discussed "future political cooperation." Half the Socialist members of Parliament were reported to a coalition with the Christian Democrats unless Adenauer retired.

The unresolved crisis, touched off originally by the walkout of Free Democrats from the government as a result of the Spiegel affair, has put Adenauer in one of the toughest spots of his political career.

A union of Free Democrats and Socialists would mean an end to the 86-year-old Adenauer's rule.

The Free Democrats, with 67 seats, hold the balance of power in the present Bundestag (lower house). Adenauer's Christian Democrats hold 241 seats and the Socialists 190.

A new arrest in the Spiegel case was announced while political leaders struggled to heal the breach caused by the crackdown on the weekly news magazine.

Lawyer Josef Augstein, a brother of Der Spiegel's publisher, was taken into custody Tuesday on suspicion of complicity in high treason.

The previous arrests of publisher Rudolf Augstein and members of his staff touched off the turmoil that caused the exit of the Free Democrats from the government and brought on the resignation of Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss.

The first arrests followed an article in the magazine charging that the 400,000-man armed force Strauss built up during his six years in office was incapable of stopping any Soviet aggression. Critics charged that Strauss had sought revenge against the magazine, which had constantly opposed him. Strauss subsequently resigned, but efforts to patch up the coalition have so far been unsuccessful.

ter, will also be on hand to advise students.

Classes beginning Jan. 3 include economics, English, health principles and practices, history, physical science, psychology, political science, sociology, and speech.

Beginning freshman courses are offered in these areas, as well as continuation courses for former students. Students may schedule a full college load at the Salem Center, or they may attend classes two evenings per week, on a part-time basis.

Students seeking admission to the program for Winter Quarter may confer with Mrs. Eloise Leyman, who processes admissions. One hundred and nineteen new freshmen students enrolled at the Salem Academic Center Fall Quarter, while 35 students entered with previous college training.

Hazard reports that fewer students than anticipated have taken advantage of the advance registration period during the past two weeks. Advance registration usually is held to assure students a place in classes which may be filled rapidly on registration day. By waiting until the last minute to register, students also risk having certain classes cancelled after Dec. 10, due to insufficient enrollment.

Stevenson

York of an article in this week's edition of the Saturday Evening Post. The article was written by Charles Bartlett, a reporter for the Chattanooga Times and a very close friend of Kennedy, and by Stewart Alsop, the Washington editor of the magazine who is reputed to have excellent contacts within the administration.

The point of the article which attracted immediate attention was a report that Stevenson had dissented from the general agreement within the executive committee of the National Security Council last October that a naval blockade should be imposed around Cuba to block the flow of Soviet nuclear weapons into Cuba.

Report Is Denied
In a statement Monday the White House denied the report and declared that Stevenson had in fact "strongly supported" Kennedy's decision for the blockade.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger also said there was "absolutely no question" but that Stevenson would remain as U.N. ambassador.

Stevenson himself assailed the article as "inaccurate and grossly misrepresenting my views."

The ambassador conferred with the President and it was in that meeting on Monday that he reportedly received the President's personal assurance of support.

There is a strong impression among other officials, however, that someone is "out to get Adlai." These officials seem to have no doubt that Bartlett and Alsop obtained their information on the various opinions expressed in secret meetings of the NSC executive committee from persons the newsmen considered to be fully competent and highly authoritative informants.

This generally accepted view of the authoritative nature of the sources for the article has raised speculation Stevenson was being subjected to the same kind of treatment some other officials have experienced.

There were apparently authoritative critical articles written about Chester Bowles a year ago before the President accepted his resignation as undersecretary of state and reassigned him to a special White House advisory role on foreign policy. Criticism also appeared about the work of Fowler Hamilton prior to his recent resignation as director of the Foreign Afl Administration. Reports that the President did not get on well with West German Ambassador Wilhelm Grewe came out in advance of the disclosure that Grewe was being recalled some months ago.

Against this background Washington newsmen and officials immediately saw a potential significance in the publication of a report that Stevenson was a dissenter on the first and most important administration decision for meeting the Soviet challenge in Cuba.

The White House denial and Stevenson's own declaration that he supported the blockade measure have only partially succeeded in dealing with the issues.

Some administration officials say Kennedy was personally disturbed by the widespread assumption that Stevenson was of the skids and it was learned that Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Undersecretary George Ball were upset. Both were described by associates as strongly pro-Stevenson.

Persons familiar with the Cuban policy discussions said the President encouraged full exploration of the whole range of possible U.S. responses to the Soviet challenge—from immediate action in the United Nations to immediate invasion of Cuba.

The decision to impose a naval arms blockade fell somewhere in the middle of the range of suggested possibilities and was based on the agreement among the President and his top advisers that a limited use of force would allow Premier Khrushchev an opportunity to back down. It was understood that if he did not, stronger measure would be taken.

There seems to be no doubt that throughout the discussion Stevenson maintained the need for maximum U. S. reliance, as he saw it, on the United Nation and on the Organization of American State in dealing with the Cuban crisis.

His associates insisted that he accepted the President's decision to proceed in the manner which Kennedy announced on the night of Oct. 22 and therefore that he was not properly cast in the role of dissenter.

Chocolate Nut Bars Can Be Made At Home

Homemade candy in the house for Christmas is part of the season's fun. We think this recipe is particularly delicious. Results look professional, too.

CHOCOLATE NUT BARS

(Makes about 4 pounds)
2 to 3 cups coarsely - chopped nuts, 2 cups light or dark corn syrup, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 (14 to 15-ounce) can sweetened condensed milk, 3 squares (3 ounces) unsweetened chocolate, cut into small pieces, ½ cup sifted confectioners' sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Spread ½ the nuts evenly in bottom of well-greased 9x2x2-inch pan. Combine corn syrup and salt in large saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until mixture comes to a boil and boils about 5 minutes. Gradually add sweetened condensed milk to boiling syrup, stirring constantly. (Do not let mixture stop boiling.)

Cook, stirring constantly, until temperature reaches 236 degrees or until a small amount of mixture dropped into very cold water forms a soft ball which flattens on removal from water. Remove from heat. Add chocolate and stir until melted. Gradually blend in confectioners' sugar, then add vanilla. Cool.

Meanwhile, roll fondant between 2 sheets of waxed paper to form 9-inch square. (Fondant should fit the inside of prepared pan as nearly as possible.) Remove top layer of waxed paper. Stir cooled chocolate mixture and carefully pour about ½ mixture evenly over nuts in pan.

Invert fondant over chocolate layer, peel off waxed paper and press fondant to fit pan. Carefully pour remaining chocolate evenly over fondant. Sprinkle with remaining nuts, then gently press nuts into chocolate. Let candy cool at least 4 hours. Turn onto board. Cut into bars or squares with sharp knife.

Note: To prepare No-Cook Fondant—Cream 1-3 cup corn oil margarine slightly; blend in 1-3 cup light corn syrup, 1 teaspoon vanilla and ½ teaspoon salt. Add 1 pound sifted confectioners' sugar and mix in, first with spoon, then kneading with hands. Turn out onto board and continue kneading until mixture is well blended and smooth. Cover and set aside.

CORNBREAD AND SAUSAGE STUFFING

8 small pork sausage links, 1 cup butter or margarine, 1 cup boiling water, 2 packages (8 ounces each) dry seasoned cornbread stuffing, 1 cup finely diced celery. Cook and brown sausage according to package directions. Drain and slice into narrow rounds; reserve. In a large saucepan melt the butter in the boiling water over low heat.

Remove from heat. Stir in the stuffing, celery and sausage. Makes enough stuffing for body and neck cavities of a 10 to 12 pound (ready-to-cook weight) turkey.

sarily hot—that depends on the amount you use.

Chili con carne seasoning is a perky addition to tomato soup, it can add a spark of interest to salad dressing, or season the main course with a Spanish accent. It has given a distinctive flavor to Chili Cheese Muffins.

2 cups biscuit mix, 1 cup grated, sharp cheddar cheese, 1 teaspoon chili con carne seasoning, ½ teaspoon oregano, 2 teaspoons chervil, ¾ cup milk, 1 egg, slightly beaten.

Combine biscuit mix, cheese, oregano and chervil. Beat milk and egg together until well blended. Add, all at once, to dry ingredients. Stir until just blended. Spoon into 12 greased, medium-size muffin cups. Bake in a 400 degree oven (hot) 25 to 30 minutes until golden. Turn out onto a rack to cool.

Makes 12 medium-size muffins.
Mix ground leftover cooked meat with mashed potatoes and a slightly beaten egg; season well and form into patties. Heat and brown the patties in shallow fat.

Fruit Nut Wreaths Are Tasty

Always at Christmas home-made gifts of candies and cookies and cakes take on a special character.

They are a very personal expression of friendship and good will. Attractively packaged and brightly decorated, they are about the most genuine way of saying "Merry Christmas to your house from ours."

1 cup butter or margarine, soft, ½ cup firmly packed brown sugar, 1 egg, 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, ½ teaspoon baking powder, 1 cup rolled oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked) ¼ cup finely chopped nutmeats, ¼ cup finely chopped red and green candied cherries, Thin confectioners' sugar frosting, Flaked or shredded coconut, Red candied cherries.

Beat butter until creamy; add sugar gradually, beating until fluffy. Beat in egg. Sift together flour and baking powder stir into butter mixture. Stir in rolled oats, nutmeats and candied cherries. Chill thoroughly.

Fruitcake is Traditional Holiday Dessert

What could be a more enjoyable dessert to serve to your friends than a luscious fruitcake — all ready to cut and eat? Why not serve this to your neighbors and family during the holiday season?

Made with candied fruit and light molasses, Fruitcake Supreme is a new, unusual variation of the old-fashioned favorite fruitcake served during Christmas time.

The spicy hard sauce adds a tangy, sweet gourmet touch which will make you the hit of the season.

Fruitcake Supreme

2-pkg. Date Bar Mix, 1 1/3 cups hot water, 6 eggs, 1/2 cup flour, 1 1/2 tsp. baking powder, 1/4 cup light molasses, 2 tsp. cinnamon, 1/2 tsp. nutmeg, 1/2 tsp. allspice, 2 cups chopped walnuts, 2 cups mixed candied fruit, 2 cups raisins.

Heat oven to 325 deg. (slow mod.). Grease and flour a 10" tube pan. Combine date fillings (from both date bar mix pkg.) with hot water in large bowl. Add crumbly mixtures, eggs, flour, baking powder, molasses and spices; blend well. Fold in nuts and fruit thoroughly. Pour into prepared pan.

Bake 2 hours or until toothpick stuck in center comes out clean. Cool. Wrap and store in refrigerator. Serve with Hard Sauce (below).

Hard Sauce

1/4 cup soft butter, 2 1/2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar, 1 tsp. cream, 1/4 tsp. mace, 1 tsp. lemon juice, 1/4 tsp. brandy extract.

1 tbsp. chopped nuts, 1/4 tsp. pineapple extract.

Cream butter, sugar and cream together until smooth. Divide into 3 portions. For Spicy Hard Sauce add mace and lemon juice to one portion; mix thoroughly.

For Brandy Hard Sauce: add brandy extract and nuts to one portion; mix thoroughly.

For Pineapple Hard Sauce: a pineapple extract to one portion; mix thoroughly. Chill hard sauce 2 to 3 hours before serving.

GIBLET GRAVY

(Yield: About 3 1/2 cups)

Drippings from turkey roasting pan, 1/2 cup hot water, 3 tablespoons flour, 2 1/2 cups giblet stock, Salt to taste, 1-16 teaspoon ground black pepper, 1-3 cup chopped giblets, 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion.

Scrape the drippings from the turkey roasting pan into a saucepan. Rinse well with hot water. Combine flour with 1-3 cup of the cold giblet stock and mix until smooth. Add and stir to mix well. Blend in remaining giblet stock, salt, black pepper, giblets and onion. Stir and cook until slightly thickened.

NOTE: For Giblet Stock, place turkey giblets, neck, 1 sliced small onion, 1 teaspoon salt and 3 cups water in a saucepan. Cover, bring to boiling point, reduce heat and simmer 1 to 1 1/2 hours or until giblets are tender.

Always cover the container in which you are "steaming" food. Place the food on a rack-type arrangement over a small amount of boiling water so that it will cook by contact with steam, not in the water.

Note to new cooks: The broiling time for meat depends on the thickness of the meat, not on its weight.

Elkton

Mrs. Ray Moore, Mrs. Lloyd Neville, Mrs. John Armstrong and Kenneth Bettis were accepted as new members of the Elkton Methodist Church Sunday.

Mrs. Robert Whitten entertained recently at a party for her son Steven on his fourth birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Ward were recent guests of their son, Glenn Ward of New Waterford.

A public supper will be held Saturday at Elkton School from 4:30 to 8 p.m. Proceeds will be given to Rev. Robert Helfrich, principal of the school, who underwent surgery last month at the Chicago South Shore Hospital.

Woman's Society of Christian Service of Elkton Methodist Church will prepare and serve a dinner Friday at 6:30 p.m. at Elkton School, for employees and their wives of the Dickey Feed Mill in Lisbon.

No noise is heard when a fresh egg is shaken! But shake an egg that's less than fresh, and the content may be heard beating against the shell.

A word from THERON at the Country Store

(Everyone loses because of Shoplifters)

If you are one of those sorry people who came into the Country Store and put items into your pocket or pocketbook and walk out without paying for them we don't need you, we don't want you.

You are causing honest people to pay more for what they buy. You may think you are getting away with something but you are not, some day you will pay and pay.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
'Glue Sniffers' Invite Trouble

Ferdinand the Bull loved to sniff the flowers. Some children are known to sniff gasoline. But now there emerges another form of sniffing that is more dangerous than gasoline sniffing that appears in children (mostly boys) of ages 7 to 17. This consists of sniffing the plastic cement used to make model airplanes.

This type of cement has been in the market for many years, but no glue sniffing was observed as a health problem until two or three years ago. As with gasoline sniffing, most of the children who took up glue sniffing for "kicks" were emotionally disturbed. But this factor alone would not account for the habit.

THE INTOXICATING effects were probably discovered by chance after working with the glue. Then, as the feeling of elation was recognized as a result of the sniffing, intentional repetition of the experience was sought. This was, possibly, to escape an emotionally unsatisfactory or unpleasant environment.

Plastic cements contain highly volatile solvents which vary with different brands. But they all contain a combination of such chemicals as benzene, alcohol, acetone, butyl acetate, carbon tetrachloride, and chloroform.

The children who use these glues for sniffing develop a certain amount of tolerance so that they cannot get the desired effect without using an increasing number of tubes. It does not follow, however, that their internal organs develop a similar tolerance.

While the "jag" may last only 30 to 45 minutes, chronic poisoning of the liver, heart, kidneys, blood-forming organs, and nervous system slowly develops. A real binge may cause loss of consciousness.

WHILE THE BODY IS being slowly poisoned, more noticeable effects of prolonged use may be observed. These include halitosis, excessive secretions from nose and mouth, irritability, loss of appetite, loss of weight, and lack of mental alertness.

Sniffing is a habit rather than a true addiction. Fortunately, stopping the habit does not produce painful withdrawal symptoms.

Winter Wheat Program

Dec. 14 is the last day for signing up under the 1963 wheat stabilization program for farms in the winter wheat area, L. L. Moff Mahoning County chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, has announced.

"This means that only about a week remains in which growers may file applications to take part in the 1963 winter wheat stabilization program," the chairman said.

"Farmers who participate in the 1963 program will be eligible to receive special payments for voluntarily diverting a part of their allotment or base acreage from the production of wheat and devoting that acreage to a conservation use, and they will also qualify for extra price-support payments and for the regular price-support loan or purchase agreements."

Under this voluntary wheat reduction program, farmers may divert from 20 to 50 percent of their wheat allotment or base acreage, with special diversion provisions for small farms. The diverted acreage must be devoted to an approved conservation use.

Growers are cautioned, however, to sign up for only the amount of acreage they intend to divert from 1963 production. Failure to divert the full amount of acreage signed up would result in loss of diversion and price-support payments, as well as loss of eligibility for the regular wheat price-support loan or purchase agreement, it was pointed out by T. W. Richards, ASC office manager.

Mr. Shnoco's Zoo

Christmas Story
By Lucrece Beale

(Chapter Three) FLYING LESSONS

For three days and three nights Mr. Shnoco worked with the reindeer but he could not teach them to fly.

"You can do it! You can!" insisted Mr. Shnoco. He spread his arms and leaped from rock to rock to show them what he wanted of them.

The reindeer were anxious to please. They listened to Mr. Shnoco's instructions; they ran to and fro; they even leaped over the low fence he built. But that is as near as they came to flying.

Mr. Shnoco set up a movie screen and showed the deer a movie of Santa Claus in his sleigh being carried over the rooftops by eight soaring reindeer.

"There!" exclaimed Mr. Shnoco. "If they can do it so can you."

THE DEER STARED at the screen in astonishment. They could not believe that the graceful creatures skimming above the clouds were the same as themselves. When the picture was over they looked at one another in wonder but they were still earth-bound and could not fly.

Mr. Shnoco took Horace, the herd leader, to the bird cage and left him there the whole day to watch the birds skimming among the trees. At the end of the day Horace had gained nothing but a crick in the neck from holding his head back so long. Mr. Shnoco rubbed Horace's neck with reindeer liniment oil. The next day he took him to the monkey cages.

"See, even monkeys can do it!" said Mr. Shnoco. "And they don't have wings."

Sure enough, the monkeys were gliding from bar to bar as if flying were the easiest thing in the world. The funny-faced creatures screamed at Horace, laughing at him for his great solid bulk that he couldn't lift off the ground.

Back in the reindeer enclosure, Horace was very sad and all the other reindeer were sad, too. They knew they were not beautiful and now they felt they were failures. Mr. Shnoco saw how they felt and he was filled with remorse.

HE PUT HIS ARM around Horace's thick neck. "Never mind," he murmured. "You are as you are. You needn't try to fly anymore."

He gave all the deer an extra big feeding and patted each one on his soft muzzle. Then he went to his office to send a message to Santa Claus.

"Sorry," he wrote. "I can't

He spread his arms to show what he wanted of them.

help you after all. My reindeer can't fly."

Then he went off to bed for it was late and he was very tired after all his efforts. He was cheerful but he couldn't help feeling disappointed. He had so wanted his deer to shine. And, of course, he had wanted very much to help Santa because it isn't every day that Santa asks help from anyone.

"Whatever will Santa do now?" wondered Mr. Shnoco.

He went to sleep and while he slept he had a dream. He dreamed that the reindeer—his own Shnoco's Zoo reindeer—were flying, all on their own, without the slightest difficulty. The dream was so real and so powerful it woke him and he popped out of bed crying. "Could it really be?"

HE SHOOK HIS HEAD and got under the covers. "What nonsense!" he grumbled. A minute later he was out of bed again pulling on his trousers. "I'll just go have a look anyway," he said to himself. "Perhaps the poor creatures are in trouble."

He ran out of the house and off to the reindeer enclosure. There, by the light of the moon, he saw the most extraordinary sight

The reindeer were not just flying—they were soaring! They somersaulted; they made hairpin turns; they shot down; they skimmed the earth and surged heavenward again. They flew in formation; they flew solo; they zigzagged; they coasted. They hung motionless in the center of the heaven.

Mr. Shnoco rubbed his eyes. "Crookshank is right," he murmured. "I'm out of my head."
